Art Unit: 2837

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Stephens (6,627,803).

Regarding claims 1, Stephens discloses a brace bar comprising a narrow portion having a cross-section with a profile of which at least one side extends vertically upward to a position of a predetermined height, thus forming a lower base part (the base portion shown in Fig. 6B), and is bent inward at said position toward a center of the brace bar, and, thereafter, extends upward while being inclined at a predetermined inclination angle to form a tapered upper part (Fig. 6B).

Regarding claim 2, Stephens discloses the claimed invention (Fig. 6B).

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stephens in view of Witchel (75,406,874)

Regarding claim 3, Stephens discloses the claimed invention except that the other side extends vertically upward to a top of the brace bar.

Witchel teaches a brace bar having only one side extends vertically upward to a top of the brace bar (Fig. 7) for supporting and attaching to a soundboard (14). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to modify Stephens' brace bar as taught by Witchel to include the other side extends vertically upward to a top of the brace bar for the purpose of supporting and attaching to a soundboard.
